TOPICALS: HAND SANITIZERS

A word about hand sanitizers and alcohol percentages:

Customers sometimes ask us about the different percentages of ethyl alcohol in the hand sanitizers and waterless hand cleaners we carry. Concentration of alcohol in a hand gel is usually described as a percentage. This percentage may be expressed as percentage of weight (w/w) or of volume (v/v).

Therefore when ethyl alcohol is expressed as 62% w/w it is equivalent to ethyl alcohol 70% v/v - it is the same, CDC recommended amount of ethyl alcohol, just measured by a different scale (weigh instead of volume).

NOTICE:

Effective November 27, 2019, the FDA will be implementing new pharmaceutical traceability standards under the Drug Supply Chain Security Act (DSCSA).

These new regulations will PROHIBIT all pharmaceutical distributors and wholesalers from selling pharmaceuticals below the lowest serialized unit of measure. It will be at the pharmaceutical manufacturer's discretion to determine the lowest unit of measure they will serialize, which could be at individual "each" quantity, or at the larger box or case quantity.

This means that many injectable pharmaceuticals that you as a client have been able to purchase in single units (by the "each" quantity) will no longer be available at such units of measure due to lack of serialization. You will still be able to order these injectable pharmaceuticals, but they will only be available at larger quantities, such as a box or case.
